

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A method for checking the existence of an optical disk using focusing signal is provided. The method in accordance with the present invention prevents misjudgment of the existence of an optical disk which are caused by noise contained in focus error signal or low reflection ratio of a disk.